

AFRICAN GEESE

The African goose is a massive bird with a heavy body, thick neck, stout bill and jaunty posture giving the impression of strength and vitality. Mature birds have a large, forward-projecting knob above their beaks. African geese can withstand considerable cold weather but need shelter to protect their knobs from frostbite. They are alert birds and make excellent “watchdogs.”

Classified as Watch by the ALBC.