

BLACK GIANT

This chicken is supersized! Although created as a dual-purpose fowl (valued for both meat and eggs), it isn't used on commercial farms because it takes up to a year for them to grow to full size, whereas commercial strains can reach their desired size as early as 5 weeks of age. The Black Giant is good-natured and hens lay medium-large brown eggs.

Main use – M/E

Egg Production – M

Size and color – M-L/Brown

Best kept free range and confined; cold hardy.

Classified as Watch by the ALBC.