

BUFF ORPINGTONS

Buff Orpingtons are large, stately birds with a friendly and quiet disposition that make great backyard birds. They also make excellent setters and mothers. Their heavy, full plumage make them excellent winter layers, shelling out light pinkish-brown eggs right through cold weather. Orpingtons lay between 180 and 200 eggs a year.

Main use – M/E

Egg Production – H

Size and color – L/Brown

Best kept free range and confined; cold hardy and heat tolerant.

Classified as Recovering by the ALBC.